About the Department

The Department of Science & Humanities is one of the pioneering departments of the institution and is equipped with strongly motivated and dedicated faculty members. It was established in 2010 and has always contributed to the vision of the institute in striving for excellence in teaching and research activities. The department plays an important role to hone the skills of the students with a strong basic concept of Chemistry, Mathematics, Physics, and Humanities and Social Sciences in the various B.Tech., M.Tech. and Ph.D. programmes of the institute, and flare up a passion of enquiry within them.

The department also offers Ph.D. programmes in various fields and interdisciplinary areas. Its objective is to endeavor for excellence in research and to impart high quality education, so as to transform the young technocrats and scholars into competent and motivated professionals. The department has the state-of-the-art instrumentation facilities to carry out basic and advanced research studies. The research activities in the department are generously supported by the external national funding agencies (UGC, DST-SERB, CSIR, NBHM, UGC-DAE-CSR). The department also has collaborative research programs with national and international universities/institutes.
